ZUM ALTEN BRAUHAUS

HISTORY

The turn of the twentieth century was boom-time for beer-drinking in Cologne, with new breweries springing up at every turn. The twenty years between 1890 and 1910 saw the opening of 22 new operations, including the HEINRICH REISSDORF Brewery, which was established in 1894, when Heinrich Reissdorf purchased the property at 51, Severinstrasse and founded the “Obergärige Brauerei Heinrich Reissdorf, Cöln”.

Both the brewery and the associated beer hall were almost entirely destroyed by allied bombing during the Second World War. Rebuilding of the brewery began in the immediate aftermath of the war, with the first beer being brewed again before the year was out.

Today, the eponymous Reissdorf Kölsch produced by the Privat-Brauerei Heinrich Reissdorf is the best-selling kölsch brand around. Kölsch is a top-fermented beer akin to English light ale; it is served in a small, cylindrical glass called a “Stange” and brought to you by a “Köbes”. This traditional name for the waiters in Cologne beer halls goes back to the middle ages, when brewers from Cologne would earn money by selling beer to thirsty pilgrims on the road to Santiago (the “Jakobsweg” in German).

The beer hall Zum alten Brauhaus, situated on the site of the original brewery, was opened in 2009 and aims to continue the old Reissdorf traditions in a cosy but modern atmosphere.

Alexander Manek and his team wish you a warm welcome here in the Old Brewery!

“Who knows, maybe one day the red and white Reissdorf emblem will once again adorn the brewery gabel in Severinstrasse, enticing passers-by to drop in for a beer or three...”

– Franz Mathar & Rudolf Spiegel in Kölsche Bier und Brauhäuser,
Greven Verlag, Cologne, 1989
